Benda lives in the wilds of the Abujh Maad area of central India. His village consists of three huts deep in the wilds. Wearing a small loin cloth and armed with his axe he slowly surveys the penda (forest) where his tribe practices a primitive form of agriculture called shifting cultivation. Benda and his friends burn small patches of forest to clear them for cultivation. The ash is used for making the soil fertile. How lucky I am to be a part of this beautiful universe, he thinks, looking up to see the Mahua, Palash and Sal trees that have sheltered him since childhood. Crossing the penda in a gliding motion, Benda makes his way to a stream. As he bends down to scoop up a palmful of water, he remembers to thank Loi-Lugi, the spirit of the forest, for allowing him to quench his thirst. Moving on with his friends, Benda chews on succulent leaves and roots. The boys have been trying to collect Gajjhara and Kuchla, from the forest. Q.46 Read the given passage carefully and answer the following questions.

A study by Scripps Institute of Oceanography has revealed that Ocean Noise has increased tenfold since the 1960s. Oceanologists Sean Wiggins, John Hildebrand from Scripps and Mark McDonald from Whale Acoustics, Colorado studied the declassified US Navy documents and came to the conclusion that global shipping has contributed a lot to increase undersea noise pollution. They said with populations increasing around the globe in recent decades, the underwater world has also become a noisier place, adding that the effects of greater noise on marine life was still unknown. Findings revealed a tenfold increase in underwater ocean noise as compared with the 1960s. They said the noise levels in 2003-2004 were about 10-12 decibels higher than in 1964-1966. The reasons could be due to the vast increase in the global shipping trade, the number of ships plying the oceans and the higher speed of vessels.

Oceanologists Sean Wiggins, John Hildebrand from Scripps and Mark McDonald from Whale Acoustics, Colorado studied the declassified US Navy documents and came to the conclusion that global shipping has contributed a lot to increase undersea noise pollution. They said with populations increasing around the globe in recent decades, the underwater world has also become a noisier place, adding that the effects of greater noise on marine life was still unknown. Findings revealed a tenfold increase in underwater ocean noise as compared with the 1960s. They said the noise levels in 2003-2004 were about 10-12 decibels higher than in 1964-1966. The reasons could be due to the vast increase in the global shipping trade, the number of ships plying the oceans and the higher speed of vessels.

The findings given in the paragraph are based on the study of _____

1. Declassified Navy Documents of United States.
2. Findings of Challenger Expeditions.
3. Satellite Data from US Agencies.
4. Lidar Mapping of World Oceans.

Options 1. 1

2. 2
3. 3
4. 4

Q.50 Read the given passage carefully and answer the following questions.

A study by Scripps Institute of Oceanography has revealed that Ocean Noise has increased tenfold since the 1960s. Oceanologists Sean Wiggins, John Hildebrand from Scripps and Mark McDonald from Whale Acoustics, Colorado studied the declassified US Navy documents and came to the conclusion that global shipping has contributed a lot to increase undersea noise pollution. They said with populations increasing around the globe in recent decades, the underwater world has also become a noisier place, adding that the effects of greater noise on marine life was still unknown. Findings revealed a tenfold increase in underwater ocean noise as compared with the 1960s. They said the noise levels in 2003-2004 were about 10-12 decibels higher than in 1964-1966. The reasons could be due to the vast increase in the global shipping trade, the number of ships plying the oceans and the higher speed of vessels.

Which of the following is NOT responsible for increased ocean noise?

1. Increased Global Shipping
2. Increase in global trade.
3. Higher speed of vessels.
4. Rise of Sea Level.
